

THE CENTRE FOR POVERTY AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES
FACULTY OF ECONOMICS AND ADMINISTRATION
UNIVERSITY OF MALAYA

Background

The Centre for Poverty and Development Studies (CPDS), Faculty of Economics and Administration, University of Malaya was established as a platform for research and teaching in the field of poverty and development studies. Inaugurated in November 2006 with the launch of the Royal Professor Ungku Aziz Chair (RPUA). Since then, CPDS has developed new research directions, anchored by Eight (8) Research Pillars:

- (1) Poverty;
- (2) Poverty & Sustainable Development;
- (3) Inequality, Distribution & Social Mobility;
- (4) Labour & Human Capital;
- (5) Gender, Development & Group Vulnerability;
- (6) Human Security;
- (7) Development & Social Policy; and
- (8) Political Economy.

Embodied within these pillars, is the focus on developing new approaches and methodologies for poverty and development research, aimed to position CPDS as a national and regional reference point for academic work, research and consultancy for poverty and rural development to serve the academic community, the general public, policy makers and the international community as it is mandated to do. Given this mandate, CPDS will continue to identify gaps in theory, methodology and policy application, to be the catalyst in the development of ideas on poverty and development related issues, spearheading the formulation of frameworks for poverty and development studies, and contribute to a multi-dimensional approach to poverty and development research with the overarching aim of enhancing academic excellence in the field of development and the fight against poverty.

CPDS Brown Bag Seminar

We are pleased to announce that The Centre for Poverty and Development Studies (CPDS) will be holding a seminar on “Is Poverty Reduction Part of The Gross City Internal Product (GCIP)?” by Dr. Mario Arturo Ruiz Estrada, Senior Research Fellow, Department of Economics, Faculty of Economics and Administration, University Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

CPDS Research and Seminar Series reflects our commitment towards an inter-disciplinary and multi-dimensional approach to poverty and development studies by engaging experts, stakeholders and the general public through our core activities:

- (1) CPDS Brown Bag Seminar;
- (2) National Roundtable Stakeholders;
- (3) International CPDS Development Forum; and
- (4) Royal Professor Ungku Aziz Public Lecture Series.

These core activities aim to further develop and strengthen CPDS as well as to strengthen links between government bodies, commercial interests, and the wider community through knowledge transfer, networking, and pragmatic dissemination of information.

More specifically, the aim of CPDS Brown Bag Seminar is to provide a platform for academics, development practitioners, policy makers, NGOs and stakeholders to share their work and ideas on poverty and development issues that are relevant at the national, regional and global levels.

The focus of today’s seminar is on Pillar 2, “Poverty and Sustainable Development:” which is understand and search for compatible frameworks between development targets such as growth, poverty eradication, the social dimension of development such as, the provision of basic needs, employment creation, equity and distribution, while sustaining the environment for future generations and to design appropriate policy measures for social transformation and managing sustainability.
